REPORT ON HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Human Resources Management Division engaged in a range of activities during the period under review, in response to various structural and operational challenges in the Organization. Some of these activities involved organization-wide reforms, the creation of the new Regional Offices and the development of new Staff Rules and policies aimed at achieving greater organizational effectiveness. Highlights for the period include:

- (a) the development of a new and robust Staff Evaluation System, an IT-based tool hosted in the PRISM platform that replaces the current IOM Performance Development System. The new system is underpinned by a competency framework and supplemented with a logical organization-wide job architecture, all designed to enhance the culture of performance management at IOM;
- (b) effective management of the transition of staff from the previous Missions with Regional Functions to the eight new Regional Offices during the implementation of the IOM Field structural reform; in addition, the Staff Development and Learning Unit helped develop the new IOM Project Handbook and run pilot tests of its associated training modules;
- (c) the preparation of a comprehensive staff survey geared towards the formulation of a human resources strategy to be launched in 2012, an important step towards articulating a road map for a clear and responsive human resources landscape at IOM;
- (d) finalization of the unified Staff Rules to accompany the unified Staff Regulations, which have already been approved by the Council;
- (e) the redrafting of the policy on a respectful working environment and the preparation of a complementary quick reference guide to facilitate the process by which staff members report irregular practices and misconduct.

II. IOM STAFFING

Vacancies and placements

2. In the period under review, the Organization's staff strength increased by 6.2 per cent, from 7,699 in the beginning of July 2010 to 8,181 at the end of June 2011. Recruitment activities comprised:

- 84 fixed-term vacancy notices for Officials and 63 Officials recruited or placed through internal (55) and external (8) advertisements between January 2010 and June 2011;
- five vacancy notices for General Service staff at Headquarters and 110 short-term vacancy notices for Officials;
- 250 direct recruitment process requests (mainly for the crises in the Middle East and North Africa, Haiti, Pakistan and Sudan).

Associate Experts

3. During the reporting period, four new Associate Experts, funded by the Governments of Germany, Italy, Japan and Norway, joined IOM, bringing the total number to 22 (as of 30 June 2011). Ten Associate Experts were retained as Officials of the Organization at the end of their assignment. Administrative procedures are under way for an additional six such positions to be filled. The ongoing success of the Associate Expert programme lies in its ability to offer an exceptional partnership opportunity for both Member States and the Organization to focus on mutually agreed thematic and geopolitical priorities. At the same time, the programme offers a unique learning experience to the Associate Experts, who gain know-how of migration disciplines. IOM engages regularly with Member States contributing Associate Experts and has held discussions with Australia (AusAID and the Department of Immigration and Citizenship) about it joining the programme.

Strengthening partnerships

4. During the reporting period, the Human Resources Management Division proactively engaged with existing partners and stakeholders and at the same time identified potential new partnerships. Formal partnerships were concluded with the Centre for International Peace Operations (ZIF) in Berlin and are being discussed with RedR Australia and United Nations Volunteers. The Division continues to engage with its traditional partners, including CANADEM, the Swedish International Development Agency, the Norwegian Refugee Council, the Danish Refugee Council and Syni¹. It has also engaged with a number of universities, making keynote speeches at the London School of Economics, the Australian National University and Geneva University's International Organizations MBA programme.

5. The Division has been actively involved in UN Common System human resource activities, including events organized by the Association for Human Resource Management in International Organizations, the Human Resource Network and the Dual Career and Staff Mobility Programme. It will co-host, in conjunction with the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs, ZIF and Stiftung Mercator, the 8th International Organizations Career Development Roundtable in Berlin in December, which will bring together human resources professionals from over 70 international organizations.

Staff exchanges, secondments and loans

6. During the reporting period, secondments to IOM comprised:

- one Official from the Government of Sweden and another from the Migration Policy Institute;
- 38 staff seconded by the Norwegian Refugee Council and deployed to Afghanistan, Haiti, Namibia, Pakistan, Sudan and Zimbabwe;
- 14 people seconded by Syni to IOM Headquarters;
- 12 people seconded by Syni to Field Offices in Eastern Europe, making for a total of 26 Syni secondments.

¹ Syni is a not-for-profit professional project carried out by Lausanne City Council that offers motivated professionals the possibility to participate in formative international cooperation assignments in Switzerland and abroad.

7. IOM loaned staff members to various United Nations agencies and international organizations, including the Global Forum on Migration and Development, the International Labour Organization, the World Health Organization, the World Intellectual Property Organization, the United Nations Office for Project Services, the United Nations Development Programme, the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs and the Government of Switzerland.

Internship Programme

8. The IOM Internship Programme continues to flourish in the form of partnership agreements with universities worldwide. During the reporting period, IOM hosted 202 interns globally, 74 at Headquarters and 128 in Field Offices. The Programme provides interns with an opportunity to learn about the work of IOM through practical experience, while at the same time providing valuable support for IOM's migration activities.

Staff rotation

9. The 2010 rotation list comprised 97 staff members, including those who had been deferred from the 2009 cycle. A total of 46 staff members from the 2010 rotation took up their new functions over the course of 2011. This includes 37 staff eligible for rotation in 2010, six rotated as a result of the Field structural reform and three "emergency rotations". Rotations deferred from 2010 will be carried forward to the next cycle.

III. EFFECTIVE HUMAN RESOURCES SERVICE DELIVERY

10. Manila Human Resources Operations is responsible for the transactional aspects of human resources service delivery. During the reporting period, it introduced benchmarks for various aspects of service delivery, with inquiries routinely resolved within 24 hours, and continued to cross-train staff, making for a more responsive organizational unit. It continues regularly to analyse data and check their accuracy by means of a cross-cutting validation method.

Policy and services

11. Following the Council's approval of the revised Staff Regulations, the Human Resources Management Division worked extensively on the revision of the Staff Rules. Its final version of the proposed unified Staff Rules, covering all categories of IOM staff, is now being validated by the Office of Legal Affairs and the Staff Association Committee prior to its approval by the Director General.

12. During the reporting period, various policies were formulated and revised to strengthen IOM's human resources landscape, including:

- the policy on short-term assignments
- the policy and guidelines on the new Staff Evaluation System
- the revised policy on the administration of sick leave
- the revised policy on a respectful working environment
- the revised policy on internships at IOM.

Change management

13. In addition to lending substantial support to the IOM Field structural reform and the change in the Organization's culture required for the introduction of the Staff Evaluation System, the Human Resources Management Division played a part in several significant change management processes and initiatives. Highlights included support missions to South Africa, the Netherlands, Kenya, the Russian Federation, Jordan (for the Iraq Field Office), Haiti, the United States of America, Italy and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Health insurance, duty of care and the administration of justice

14. Health insurance coverage (the Medical Service Plan) continues to be extended to IOM Field Offices. During the reporting period, five additional offices were enrolled. As a result, 6,378 participants (staff members and eligible dependents) in a total of 120 Field Offices are now covered.

15. During the period under review, health insurance-related policies were revised to reflect the latest changes in insurance benefits and to improve and facilitate understanding of the insurance landscape. An insurance website was developed to allow staff members easy access to all insurance documents and policies, and a brochure on the Medical Service Plan was produced in IOM's three official languages to provide practical guidance to staff on health claims. An anti-fraud medical policy and internal control check-list were formulated, to guide the staff members concerned in the prevention and detection of fraud relating to the various medical insurance policies and the submission of medical claims.

16. Agreements were concluded with additional hospitals in Jordan and Panama to facilitate admission procedures and improve the cost-effectiveness of health services.

17. The Human Resources Management Division has initiated weekly meetings with the Office of Legal Affairs, in close coordination with the Ombudsperson, in an endeavour to deal with staff grievances before they get to the formal appeal stage. It also enjoys a very productive and collaborative partnership with the Staff Association Committee in this regard, with open lines of communication and regular joint Administration/Committee meetings.

18. As part of the move to strengthen accountability mechanisms at IOM, the Staff Development and Learning Unit introduced a new programme designed to bolster the ability of IOM Regional Resource Managers, Human Resources Officers and Chiefs of Mission to run effective investigations and produce thorough reports, so as to facilitate the decision-making process in situations of wrongdoing.

19. In the 12 months to 30 June 2011, the Joint Administrative Review Board received six appeals. Four complaints were filed with the ILO Administrative Tribunal.

Gender and diversity

20. IOM's goal is to achieve gender parity in the Professional categories, which have averaged over 40 per cent women employees in the past five years. Although this goal has yet to be met, the statistical data indicate that it is achievable despite the large number of posts in hardship locations. In fact, parity has almost been achieved in the lower-level Professional grades, and even been far exceeded for Associate Experts, but the number of female staff in senior management positions (P5 and above) still needs greater attention.

21. In all, 120 of 132 Member States are represented among IOM staff. The nationality spread is narrower, however, for Professional staff, with only 93 Member States represented. In an effort to achieve representation from all countries, all vacancy notices that are open to internal candidates are also open to external candidates from non-represented Member States. The number of Member States not represented among IOM staff decreased from 10 per cent in 2007 to 9 per cent in 2011.

Staff development and learning

22. In the first half of 2011, the Human Resources Management Division actively supported the preparations for the Field structural review implementation, working closely with the Project Endorsement Working Group to validate the training package and methodology.

23. The development of the new Staff Evaluation System was a priority for both the Division and the Information Technology and Communications Division, with the Staff Development and Learning Unit taking the lead in product development.

24. The Division led two regional training sessions designed to augment human resources management capacity and understanding among human resource staff in Country Offices. The sessions were held in Latvia (for the Baltic region) and Panama (for the Americas).
